frequently asked questions

Q: Is our Company a good fit for AAMA Member Rewards?

AAMA has developed a program that allows single location owners the opportunity to share in volume discount pricing and manufacturer rebates. Programs such as these are generally only offered to multi-unit operations and chains. If your company likes to save money, you are a good fit.

Q: Is there a cost to join AAMA's Member Rewards Program?

There is NO cost, NO long-term commitment, and NO risk for participation. AAMA members are eligible to receive rebates and deviated pricing from our network of previously negotiated manufacturer contracts. Our vendor retains a portion of the rebates earned for program administration. They compare your purchases against their programs, collect the rebates from the manufacturers and pass the savings on to you.

Q: How do I enroll in AAMA Member Rewards?

1. Complete and sign the Rewards Program enrollment form.
2. Provide a list of all locations with complete address and distributor account numbers.
3. Provide a list of which contracts you or your distributor have negotiated directly with the manufacturer. Our vendor will exclude those manufacturers from the process and capture rebates on the remaining, non-contracted purchase volume.
4. Complete the W-9 form so your company can receive a monthly rebate check directly from the Rewards Program vendor.

Q: What happens after I become a member and sign up for the Rewards program?

Our vendor's manufacturer partners are notified that you have joined the Rewards Program. The Member Services team will perform an analysis on your purchases so that you can maximize your rebate and price savings. A key focus of the program is partnering with "Preferred" manufacturers where they can deliver extra value to our members. As product conversion opportunities are identified, your Region Manager responsible for your account will contact you. Together, you can determine if the items identified meet your business needs to lower your costs of goods without sacrificing quality.
